

It takes a team...

... of physicians, nurses and other highly-trained medical professionals to provide quality care in a hospital. It also takes a commitment to best practices and processes. The Alabama Productivity Center at the University of Alabama has recognized the teamwork and commitment to excellence at Huntsville Hospital — your community hospital — with the 2006 Alabama Excellence Award.

In addition to the top award, two project teams were honored for their work in Stroke Care and Surgical Infection Prevention.

Huntsville Hospital thanks its employees and physicians for their commitment to provide the very best care and service to our patients.
